The Dual Credit Courses 101

What is the dual credit courses program?

The dual credit courses program is a partnership between CHS and Valley Forge Military College that helps CHS students get ahead and get started with their college credits while finishing their high school requirements.

We offer 16-week courses including English composition, pre-calculus, and college algebra, taught by highly qualified instructors on an online platform, allowing students flexibility in terms of time management and course load at a substantially reduced cost.

Because Citizens High School and Valley Forge Military College are both regionally accredited, course credits are transferable to any public or private high school or homeschool and to the college of your choice

All courses are worth 1 high school credit and 3 college credit hours each.

The Benefits of the Dual Credit Course Program

Why should you enroll in the dual credit courses program?

Aside from holistic, self-paced courses, the dual credit courses program allows students to:

Save Money

The CHS dual credit tuition rates save students up to $755 per course*, or 73% the average cost of a 3-credit college course.

Skip the Test

Students can enjoy their last high school year with less stress because, unlike AP courses, they aren't required to pass an end-of-year exam to earn their college credits.

Get Ahead of the Curve

The courses offered in this program will transfer to the college of your choice. By finishing GenEd courses in this program, students can focus on their majors earlier in college, putting them two steps ahead of their peers.

*Based on the average tuition rate published in the US News and Report.
