

Our Partnership with EALA

Citizens High School and Education Abroad Latin America

EALA, an American company based in Florida, helps students based in Latin America and other countries fulfill their dreams of going to college in the USA. They support students through the university search, counseling and admissions process, up until the point they arrive on campus. Citizens High School (CHS) and EALA are proud to partner to expand on the goal of offering an American education to international students. Together, we offer students the opportunity to earn an American high school diploma prior to pursuing their college ambitions in the United States. EALA's international network and recruitment expertise, paired with CHS's high quality of education, prepares students to succeed at top-ranked universities around the USA and beyond.

Why EALA?

EALA collaborates with the admission departments from over 100 universities and community colleges in the United States. The founders were former international students who earned degrees from prestigious American universities. Together with a team spread throughout Latin America, they are experts in guiding high school students who are ready to start college in the United States.

Fast Facts

- 15+ years of experience
- 100+ affiliated colleges and universities
- Over 1,000 programs of study
- Over 3,000 students were successfully placed into American universities

Services

Due to our partnership with CHS, EALA supports students based outside of the US with free services including the following:

- Selection of the most suitable university in the United States for each candidate, based on their academic profile, level of English, interests, and budget
- Admissions support for the selected university or community college
- Scholarship application opportunities and support
- F-1 student visa process
- Logistics of arrival at the host university

